

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods for viewing code are provided. An embodiment of a method comprises the steps of: identifying a procedure; providing a visual indicator corresponding to procedure content associated with the procedure; and displaying the procedure content in association with the procedure in response to an operator actuating the visual indicator. Systems and computer-readable media also are provided.